Title – Multilog -which battery depletes

(Issue 2)

Multilog - which battery depletes first – internal or external batt pack

It is the external battery which is designed to deplete first so you will get plenty of warning as the logger will stop its 24/7 modem ability and revert back to twice daily call ins at this point and then carry on normally as if it had no external battery. There will be no loss of data if the external battery is disconnected.
