

Ref: FAQ0120*Version: 1.0*Title – Logger External battery depletion*Made By: AB 15/09/15*(Issue 2)

Which battery depletes first – the one in the external battery box or the one in the logger

Which battery is used first, the internal battery or the external battery? Will the data in the memory be lost when the external battery depletes?

It is the external battery which is designed to deplete first so you will get plenty of warning as the logger will either stop its multiple call ins and revert to one call in per day or it will stop its 24/7 modem ability. At this point it will carry on normally as if it had no external battery. There will be no loss of data if the external battery is disconnected.

Document History:

Edition	Date of Issue	Modification	Notes
1st	24/05/12	Release
2nd	15/09/15	Format update	